P: Essentially, he disliked its inherent elitism, its irrelevance as far as the needs of India's rural masses were concerned

Q: For example, it was difficult for him to accept English as the medium of instruction, because he felt that it has created a permanent bar between the highly educated few and the uneducated many.

R: Moreover, with his profound pedagogic sensitivity he could see the damaging effect of colonial education.

S: He also felt that English made one a stranger in one's own land

S6: Besides, with this kind of education, one could not appreciate the dignity of manual labour.

S6: For the first time, data was collected through tablet computers, which reduced the time gap in data collection, data processing and report generation.

P: Since its inception it is being conducted quinquennially by all States/UTs.

Q: The 20th Livestock Census was conducted with participation of Animal Husbandry Departments of States/UTs.

R: This five-yearly census is the only source which gives disaggregated information on various species of animals and poultry birds.

S: The main objective of the census is to provide information on livestock population, species-wise and breed-wise, along with age, sex-composition, etc., in rural and urban areas.

109. S1: India has been a welfare state since Independence.

S6: Elimination of poverty, ignorance, diseases and inequality of opportunities, and providing a better quality of life were the basic premise upon which all the plans of the development were built.

P: The policies and programmes have been designed with the aim of alleviation of rural poverty.

Q: The primary objective of all governmental endeavours has been the welfare of its rural population.

R: It was realized that a sustainable strategy of poverty alleviation has to be based on increasing the productive employment opportunities in the process of growth itself.

S: Ensuring rural welfare has been one of the main objectives of planned development in India. The correct sequence should be :

110. S1: Covid-19 pandemic threw a lot of challenges on the entire economy.

S6: In order to address this need and to promote economic activities post pandemic, MoHUA initiated ARHCs, a sub-scheme under PMAY(U).

P: These urban migrants stay in slums, informal settlements, unauthorized colonies, peri-urban areas to save cost on housing.

Q: Hence, they need decent rental housing at affordable rate near their worksites.

R: The biggest challenge was reverse migration of urban migrants/poor in the country.

S: The migration took place due to the temporary shutting down of industries and other sectors. The correct sequence should be:

S6: Increasingly, more and more subscribers are opting for satellite reception.

P: It offers its news services in English and Hindi languages.

Q: Over 500 newspapers and several news services subscribe to PTI, including many overseas news entities.

R: PTI now has its own satellite delivery system.

S: Bhasha is the Hindi language news service of the agency.

S6: The NSD has promoted Children's Theatre as well.

P: Post admission, the students at NSD are required to undergo training of three year's duration.

Q: The eligible applicants for admission are screened through two stages.

R: The objective of the NSD is to train students in all aspects of theatre, including theatre history, production, scene design, costume design, lighting, make-up, etc.

S: In 1975, it became an autonomous organisation.

S6: It will lay the foundation for a sustained Indian human space exploration programme in the long run.

P: With this programme, a new vertical has been created within ISRO to steer this growth.

Q: The Gaganyaan Programme marks an inflection point in the growth profile of India's space endeavour.

R: This new vertical envisages undertaking the demonstration of human space flight to Low Earth Orbit in the short-term.

S: A new ISRO centre, Human Spaceflight Centre has been formed for Low Earth Orbit flights. The correct sequence should be:

S6: The role of the Department of Youth Affairs is to act as a facilitator and catalytic agent for youth development.

P: The Department has also recognised adolescents as an important segment of the youth.

Q: Youth represent the most dynamic and vibrant segment of the population.

R: To optimally tap their constructive and creative energies, the Department of Youth Affairs pursues the twin objectives of personality development and nation building.

S: Other Ministries and the State Governments are also working to support youth development and to enable productive youth participation.

S6: The daily temperature is recorded since a permanent, continuous record of temperature is desired.

P: When the meniscus moves up the bore it leaves the index behind to register the lowest temperature.

Q: Resetting the dumbbell of the minimum thermometer is accompanied by the action of inverting the stem until the index slides down to the meniscus.

R: A tiny, dark index in the shape of a long dumbbell is placed in the bore below the top of the alcohol column.

S: It is mounted horizontally and as the alcohol contracts with the decreasing temperature the meniscus of the alcohol pulls the index down.

116. S1: The Cretaceous Period extends from about 146 million years ago to 65 million years ago.

S6: During this period, enormous quantity of basaltic lava was poured out to the surface assuming a great thickness of over three thousand meters.

P: Apart from deposits this period is marked by the transgression of the sea and outpouring of huge quantity of lava so as to form the Deccan trap and intrusion of plutonic rocks such as gabbro and granite.

Q: Towards the end of the Cretaceous Period the peninsula was affected by intense volcanic activity.

R: This outpouring has been very widely distributed in the country with divergent facies of deposits being found in different parts of India.

S: In contrast to the relatively newer Himalayas, these facies that are found in different parts of India are much older in origin.

P: One branch of the basin extends from Sasaram to Hoshangabad.

Q: In some of the exposures of the Vindhyan Systems are found diamond-bearing conglomerates.

R: This branch of this basin occupies a large continuous area stretching over one lakh square kilometre from the Chambal to the Sone.

118. S1: Drought is a continuous and lengthy period during which no significant rainfall is recorded during the rainy season.

S6: In India, droughts are more frequent in the areas where the average annual rainfall is less than 60 cm and the variability of rainfall is over 20 per cent.

P: This definition however, does not apply to Mawsynram and Cherrapunji, where even one week recording less than 0.25 mm of rainfall may be considered as a drought period.

Q: In general, the areas recording less than 60 cm of rainfall annually and in which the variability of rainfall is more than 20 per cent are the drought prone areas in India.

R: In India, the Meteorological Department has defined drought as a period of at least 22 consecutive days on none of which is there more than 0.25 mm of rainfall.

S: Areas where the variability of rainfall varies between 20 to 60 per cent are the chronic drought prone areas.

119. S1: The definition of large farmers differs from state to state in India.

S6: This trend increased the income base of those who were already relatively well-off and better placed in society.

P: In the initial phase of the Green Revolution, the large farmers were able to adopt the High Yielding Varieties easily.

Q: The new varieties increased their savings, both to buy machinery that can displace labour and to purchase more land.

R: For example, a farmer having 10 acres in Kerala is a large farmer, while in Rajasthan, Punjab and Haryana he falls under the category of a small or medium farmer.

S: All the studies conducted in areas where Green Revolution is a success show that the large farmers have been the main gainers of the package programme.

S6: Most notably among these was the New Deal, which involved large scale Federal relief programmes to aid to agriculture, support for labour unions, etc.

P: It began around 1929 and lasted till the mid-1930s.

Q: Though the stock market crash of 1929 did not cause the Depression, it certainly increased the difficulty of recovery.

R: The worst hit sectors were heavy industry, agriculture, mining and logging.

S6: Conservation does not prohibit the use of resources but emphasises judicious and planned use of natural resources.

P: Over-exploitation and unplanned consumption of resources for development, however, are leading to their depletion.

Q: These consequences can be tackled by adopting resource conservation as a means to manage and save resources for a better future.

P: However, such a partial replacement failed to satisfy the Bolsheviks.

Q: The revolutionaries did not want a parliamentary republic nor a bourgeois democracy but rather they wanted a soviet of workers, soldiers, and labourers.

Q: In his book The Spirit of the Laws, he proposed the idea of separating powers into three branches of government—the Legislative, the Executive and the Judiciary.

R: To prevent any one of the three classes from becoming too powerful, Montesquieu suggested the making of a new constitution based on checks and balances.

130. S1: Glaciation has important effects on the landscape beyond the direct modifications created by ice erosion and deposition.

S6: At the same time, ice advanced from the Welsh mountains into the Vale of Evesham and combined with northern ice to form a large proglacial lake covering much of the Midlands.

P: One example is that glaciation frequently disrupts pre-existing drainage lines, initiating a new pattern persisting after the ice has disappeared.

Q: The Midlands, what is now the Coventry/Warwick area, was formerly drained by the head waters of the River Soar, flowing into the Trent south of Nottingham.

R: Two well-documented instances of such effects occur in England.

S: During glaciation, the valleys of Soar and Trent were occupied by ice advancing from the north.

131. S1: The primary evidence for climate change that occurred many million years ago is the rocks and deposits themselves.

S6: In other words, despite the clear legacy in many parts of the world of recent glaciation, the vast majority of sedimentary rocks were laid down in warm climatic conditions.

P: Sediments and fossils in the poles tell us a great deal about the environment in which they were laid down.

Q: We must, of course, bear in mind when interpreting this information that, because of the movement of the continents, no one latitude of the Earth has necessarily gone through such marked climatic vicissitudes.

R: Nevertheless, even allowing for this factor, one of the most remarkable discoveries about the climate change of the past is that the two poles of the Earth have been free of ice for at least 90 per cent of the known history of the planet.

S: We may find in close proximity to one another, coal deposits indicating the humid conditions of the tropics, and sandstones laid down in deserts and morainic materials reflecting polar conditions.

132. S1: Every geological period has been dominated by one particular form of life; as conditions changed to those of a new period, different types of organisms emerged into dominance.

S6: The origin of completely new biological systems is comparatively rare, so consequently only a few major types have developed during the history of life.

P: Individual shifts rely on opportunity, ecological access, and the development of a new adaptation.

Q: Characteristically these shifts are rapid and are followed by a bout of adaptive radiation into the new ecological zone—for example, with the emergence of life on land.

R: Within each period, natural selection has created a vast array of adaptive experiments culminating in a breakthrough to a new biological system that may cross the ecological barrier to the next period.

P: Temperature is an index of sensible heat, not a direct measure of the quantity of energy.

Q: Zero on this scale is the 'triple point' temperature, at which the gaseous, liquid, and solid states of water are at equilibrium under standard atmospheric pressure.

R: If heat flows from one body to another, the former has the higher temperature.

S: To indicate the temperature of a body, an arbitrary scale of reference is employed.
